THE PROBLEM

VentureSauce

One startup. Four headcounts.

Founders' numbers drift between the deck, the email and the call. Checking by hand means tabs, filings and spreadsheets for every deal.

DECK	FOUNDER EMAIL	CALL NOTES	BOARD UPDATE
25	18	30	22
people	people	people	people

With 3 min 44 s per deck, nobody reconciles this.

Acme AI is fictional, from our demo inbox. Time per deck: DocSend study via TechCrunch.

THE SOLUTION

VentureSauce

Drop it in. Every claim gets a receipt.

A Chrome side panel next to Gmail, Drive and Notion.

01

Drop

Deck, email, call notes or screenshot, filed under its company.

02

Check

Against SEC Form D, LinkedIn, Crunchbase, press and your other items.

03

Ask

Every difference becomes a question for the founder call.

Every number links to its source

No match, no guess: “can't verify”

The model reads, code decides

Powered by Bright Data · Nebius · OSO · Fish Audio · SEC EDGAR

VentureSauce

VentureSauce

Public records 8

Total raised — Matches Form D

Said $671.70M → Filed $671.73M

$671.7M said · $671.7M filed · $671.7M offered

Round ($441.50M) vs. Form D — Matches Form D

Said $441.50M → Filed $441.53M

$441.5M said · $441.5M filed · $600.1M offered

Headcount — Matches LinkedIn

Said 919 → Found 919

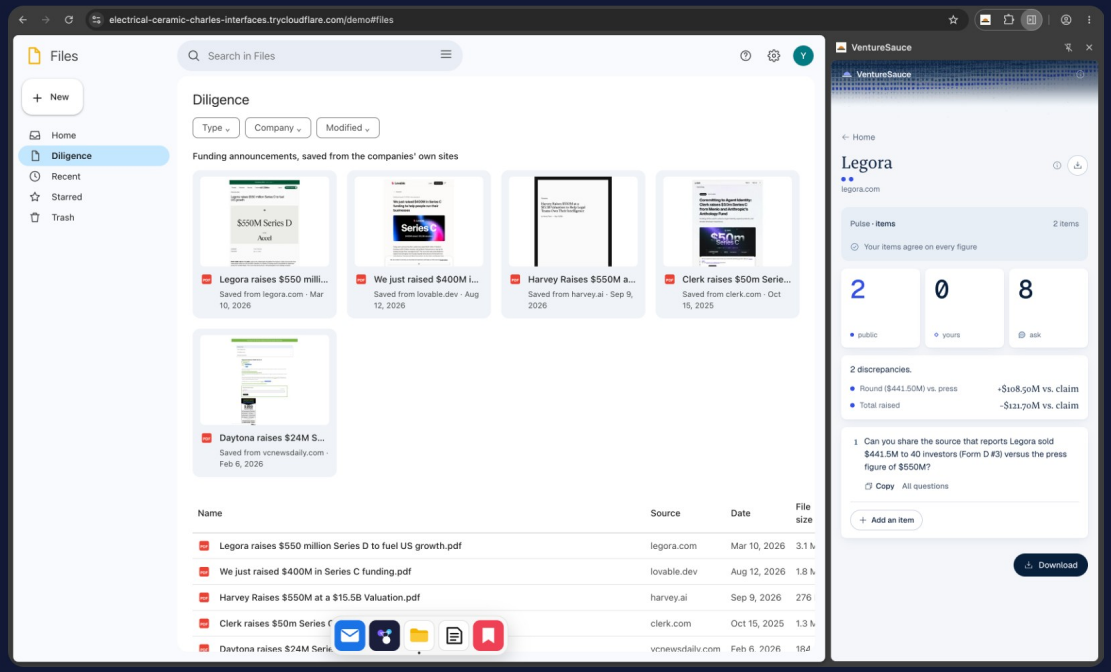

Said

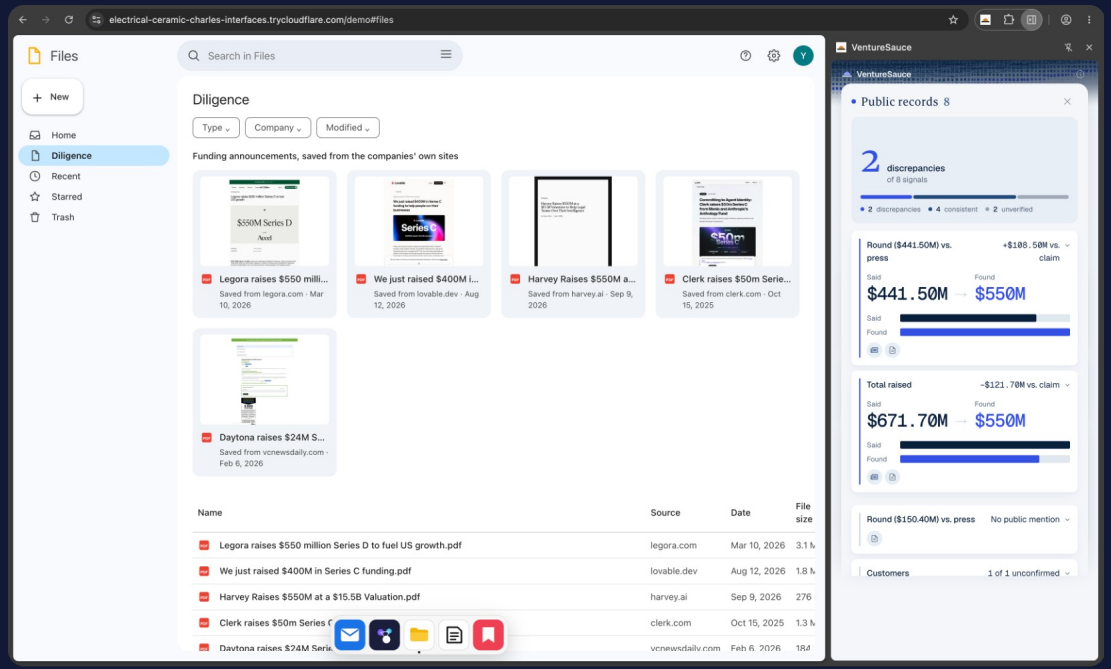

Found

Leadership — Matches Form D

- Max Junestrand
- Sigge Labor
- Chetan Puttagunta
- Jacob Effron

4 named of 4 filed

VentureSauce

VentureSauce

Questions to ask 8

Copy all

1. Can you share the source that reports Legora sold $441.5M to 40 investors (Form D #3) versus the press figure of $550M?
   Sources disagree on sold amount — Copy — Mark asked
2. Which document confirms the $671.7M Series D amount, given press coverage cites a $550M raise?
   Sources disagree on Series D amount — Copy — Mark asked
3. Can you provide a filing or press release that verifies the $150.4M sold in the recent round?
   No press coverage of round — Copy — Mark asked
4. Could you share a customer reference or case study confirming BMW Group as a Legora client?
   BMW Group claim unverified — Copy — Mark asked
5. What third-party valuation or cap-table evidence supports the $5.6B valuation claim?
   Valuation lacks public source — Copy — Mark asked
6. Can you provide audited financials or a KPI deck that substantiates the “to $100M ARR” statement?
   ARR claim unverified — Copy — Mark asked